Admiral Fox, the hero of Fort Henry, Columbus, and Island No. 10, in a speech in Washington this evening, since, addressed this earnest appeal to the people of the loyal States: "Oh, my countrymen! one and all, while our brave soldiers and sailors are fighting the rebellion in front, pray for them, relieve them, but mark those who, in the spirit of friendship, would open fire upon their rear. Would you do it?"

A defalcation of $50,000 to $80,000 has been discovered in one of the New York banks, and the guilty parties have been discharged without any prosecution. The defalcation was effected by the substitution of greenbacks for gold, the profit on the transaction being the premium on the gold.

Speaking of the recent arrest of the Governor of Ohio, a contemporary expresses its surprise at the fuss made about it, and says he doesn't see what should be permitted to "take a Tod," now and then, as well as any other man.

The bill providing for taking the vote of the Ohio soldiers in the army has become a law.

Dan Rice, the celebrated circus clown, has been engaged by Dr. G. R. Spaulding, of Albany for the coming season at a salary of $25,000. This is equal to the salary of President Lincoln.

The London Post—the organ of Lord Palmerston's government—expresses its editorial hopes that the rebels will have achieved their independence before the close of the year.

Frauds in cleaning cancelled revenue stamps and using them anew, or telling them, have progressed so in New York that the Commissioner of Internal Revenue has had to devise a method to prevent it by a process as effectual as the cancellation of checks by a hammer.

The War Committee's report, complete, will make three thousand solid pages, document size. The middle of May or first of June may relieve the Bureau of printing office of this burden—and yet the greater part of the testimony is said to have been withheld from publication.

The plates for the fractional currency are complete, and will be put upon the presses in a few days. The notes will be of a much higher character than the postal, and will defy counterfeiting.

Dr. Tassie made a written acknowledgment, in open Court, that his account of expenses in raising his regiment was fraudulent.

The report of the Medical Board appointed to determine the physical disability of conscripts, is said to be made, and said to present many holes of escape.

Instructions to Provost-Marshals are printed and ready for distribution.

E. G. Ryan, of Milwaukee, has recovered a judgment of $16,000 against Warrier Martin, of Wauegan, Ill., for the recovery of fees for legal aid. A jury was waived, and the case was left in the hands of Judge Mann, who gave judgment.

A company for the manufacture of type-setting machines has been chartered by the Massachusetts Legislature.

The majority report of the Calliope investigating committee has been made. They refer briefly to the action of the committee and the evidence taken; declare that they do not think it desirable for any person to seek the election as Speaker by promises to vote for either party for officers of the House or United States Senator; also that no evidence was given to show that any arrangement was made for Mr. Calliope to vote for Senator.

They also state the twelve hundred dollars was not loaned to Mr. Calliope until several days after his nomination for Speaker, and therefore had no bearing upon his nomination and support by the Republicans. They close the report with the statement that Mr. Calliope is entirely innocent.

The burning of Jacksonville. We are glad to find that the horrible reports which have been published by some journals, of the burning of the town of Jacksonville, Florida, by our forces, on the occasion of the evacuation, at the close of last month, are exaggerations. The Evening Post published an account of the affair, the other day, written in the Ercles vein of wrath and fury, showing how the place was "burned, scorched and crisped, if not entirely consumed to ashes, by the devouring flames." All this was told by the brave negro regiment at the post, but by the barbarous white men of New-England—the Eighth Maine and Sixth Connecticut Volunteers. Another journal, of opposite politics, but like spirit, next took up the subject, and dwelt upon it in a style calculated to bring tears to the eyes of a crocodile—showing conclusively the brutality of the "black hussars."

The report of Col. Rust, who was in command of the Union troops at Jacksonville at the time of the evacuation, has been made public. On the day he arrived there he found the rebels shelling the town, which they continued next day; and a few days afterward Col. Rust, by order of Gen. Hunter, withdrew his forces. "While the evacuation was taking place," says he, "several fires were set—a portion of them undoubtedly by Secessionists; perhaps twenty-five buildings were destroyed." This, it seems, is the whole tale. It is certainly unfortunate that we should have among us a class of patriots who will twist and exaggerate an insignificant affair like this into one of the most shocking Union atrocities—to the infinite infamy of our army and the disgrace of the whole nation.

Important Points Demonstrated by the Recent Attack on Charleston.

From the New York Herald.

The iron-clad of the Monitor type, although exposed to the heaviest cannonade at short range which earth ever witnessed—a cannonade which, from rapidity of fire and power of ordnance employed, surpasses that of the memorable bombardment of Sebastopol—passed this fiery ordeal with comparatively but little damage. Indeed, none of them were injured to an extent which a few days' work would not completely repair. Even the far famed Whitefish, which has time and again pierced the armor of the Monitor, did not penetrate them.

The only casualties which occurred were caused by the bolts which were broken in the pilot house of the Nautilus; and this from a manifest oversight in not covering the bolt heads with the sheet iron guards, with which most of the Monitor fleet are provided. So thoroughly has the designer of these remarkable vessels comprehended the necessary qualities in armor to resist the enormous dynamic effect of the impact of a cannon ball of great weight and velocity, that, in order to render the side armor of iron-clads absolutely impenetrable to the shot of the enemy, it has been necessary to enlarge the proportions—the principle, even of the Monitor fleet in detail, now being thoroughly established.

The armor of the Monitor fleet now afloat, and which has not been penetrated, is, as is well known, of five-inch plate, fastened in a peculiar manner to a very thick oak backing; now the armor of the new Monitor fleet, at present in the hands of the Government, consists of nine inches of iron, with an oak backing nearly three feet in thickness, it is fair to presume that nothing but a gun exceeding in weight any yet brought forth can penetrate this barrier. Again, the large Monitors of the Dictator and Puritan type have armor of ten and half-inch of iron, backed with about forty-eight inches of oak. This, combined with the vast speed, from the enormous power with which these vessels are supplied, they possess, renders them beyond all comparison the most formidable war vessels in the world.

The maxim that no amount of fire from fixed fortifications can prevent the advance of steam vessels-of-war through an unobstructed channel has received a marked confirmation from this engagement. It is patent to every one that land batteries, no matter how numerous, cannot be of service for the obstructions in the channel of the sea of Charleston would have been sealed.

In the engagement at Charleston three types of iron-clads were represented—the Monitors, with their laminated armor; the Keokuk, with her sandwich armor of wood and iron, and the Merrimack, with her armor of iron plates.

The Merrimack, with her armor of iron plates, was pierced through and through, as if it had been paste-board, and the armor of the iron-clads, which had been penetrated, behaved as solid slabs always do when struck by a heavy shot—it was cracked, and another shot of like power striking in the same place would have passed through.

The distance that the Merrimack was from the other iron-clads was about twice the distance that the Monitors were.

The unprofessional observer, looking at the solid plates of the Merrimack, as they were bent in but little, while the laminated plates of the Monitors were bent, would have been misled, would have supposed that the Merrimack was damaged of the two; but the facility with which the laminated plates will bend without destroying their integrity, and thus degrees absorb the risk of the shot, while the solid slabs, from their unyielding nature, are always cracked and the integrity of the place struck destroyed, dissipates this error.

So it is clear that the most valuable lesson taught by this brilliant engagement is a warning to the Government not to waste the labor and money of the country on the construction of doubtful efficiency. The Keokuk and Galena are warnings which must not be disregarded; and we take this occasion to remark, that if the Navy Department do not desire to witness a similar catastrophe they should at once cause wooden backings to be placed behind the armor of the iron-clad Unadilla, which at present is as penetrable as that of the poor Keokuk.

Although, at so great a distance from the scene of the conflict, it may be rash to express an opinion, we cannot help expressing our conviction that had the entire iron-clad fleet paid its attention to the Merrimack, the result of the engagement would have been different.

Address to the Clergymen of England. The following address has been issued in Paris, dated February 12th-13th. The French original is signed by nearly seven hundred Protestant clergymen of France, eight-hundred of the clergy of all Protestant denominations in that country:

To the Pastors and Ministers of all Evangelical Denominations in France.

Brothers, honored and loved in God! It is England's glory that she has given to the world the doctrine of the cross, the slave trade and then slavery itself. It is her glory that for sixty years she has not ceased to work for the extinction of the traffic in slaves, and of the institution of slavery, at the cost even, it is said, of fifty millions of pounds sterling.

And it is, after God, to those religious men, to Clarkson, Wilberforce and Buxton, and to her mission societies, that England owes that glory. Will not the children, the successors of these noble Christian men, complete this work, by urging their country to declare in loud terms for the sacred cause of liberty for the slaves, in the terrible struggle now going on in America?

The civilized world has seen nothing more revolting than a confederation, for the most part Protestant, in the nineteenth century of the Christian era, league together and demanding their independence with the openly avowed intention to maintain and propagate the institution of human slavery, and placing as the corner-stone of its constitution the right of slavery as it exists in the Southern States; which may be defined as the right to treat human beings as cattle, with impunity, adulteries and homicides.

Let us lay aside all political considerations: is there a Christian who does not shudder when he listens to the Chief of this Confederation, who answers to a decree of emancipation with a kind of menace of extermination? The triumph of such a cause will put back that of Christianity and civilization for a century, it will cause the angels of heaven to weep, and will rejoice the demons of hell.

Throughout the world the supporters of slavery will raise their heads, all ready as they are to reappear at the first signal in Asia, Africa, and even in our well regulated cities of Europe. It would prove a disastrous blow to the work of evangelization, and what a terrible responsibility would weigh upon the church which would remain a silent witness of the accomplishment of so shameful a triumph!

If there be, indeed, means to bring the war to a close, and make it conform to the wishes of all friends of humanity, the Christians of Europe should give to the cause of emancipation such a hearty and earnest expression of sympathy as shall not leave to those who are fighting for the right to oppress their fellow men any hope of ever seeing the land of Christian fellowship tendered to them.

Pastors, ministers of all Evangelical denominations of England, Ireland and Scotland, we need your co-operation, your example, your influence.

Place yourself at our head, and let us altogether call for a great and peaceable manifestation of our sympathy for the black race, so long enchained and debased by Christian nations. We shall thus discourage the partisans of slavery, fortify and sustain those who are endeavoring to abolish it, and thus influence them to accept our counsel.

It is well known that such manifestations will not be powerful. May we not hope that, in Great Britain, the voices of all the ministers of the Cross be raised in France our voices echo their prayers and pleadings; very soon there will not be in the United States a single black man who is not free?

Persons unacquainted with the Melodeon and its history, will bear in mind that we are the pioneers and originators of this instrument, and the first United States, but in the world. We commenced the manufacture of Melodeons in the early part of the year 1847, and since that time have finished and sold TWENTY-SEVEN THOUSAND. These instruments are now in use not only in the United States and Canada, but also in Europe, Asia, Africa, South America and the West Indies, and on all these quarters we have the most flattering testimonials of the high estimation in which they are held.

ALL INDUSTRIAL EXHIBITIONS THEY HAVE INVARIABLY BEEN AWARDED THE HIGHEST PREMIUM WHENEVER EXHIBITED IN COMPETITION WITH OTHERS.

We shall take pleasure in forwarding by mail at our own expense our Illustrated Catalogue, in which every instrument we manufacture is fully described and illustrated by elegant engravings.

All Mechanics of our manufacture, either sold by us or dealers in any part of the United States Canada, are warranted to be perfect in every respect, and should any repairs be necessary, be the expiration of five years from date of sale, we hold ourself ready and willing to make the same free of charge, provided the injury is not caused by accident or design.

Agents for the sale of our Melodions may be found in all the principal towns of the United States and Canada.

300,000! WARRANTED PURE PLANTS OF THE THOMPSON DE GAND STRAWBERRY.
After a trial of three years, we place at the head of the list of Strawberries, the Triomphe de Gand which has been said about this variety, and it has not been generally cultivated, but as soon as well known, it will be the most popular and profitable. It is a new and never known excellence which it does not possess. The plants are thrifty, hardy, and vigorous growers, bearing their fruit well up, which renders it easy to be kept clean. They are also wonderfully prolific, and the fruit is not only of very large size, but uniformly so, and throughout the season, which is longer with than with most other varieties. The flavor is everything which could be desired. It is of a very beautiful crimson color, glossy and altogether lovely. It keeps well after being picked, retaining its beautiful color and firmness, and carries a better than any other variety. Prices—100 for $1.25; 500 for $4; 1000 for $8; 5000 for $20. No charge for packing and delivering to express or stage.

THE INTER-CONTINENTAL TELEGRAPH.

From the Red River. No. 100.
The telegraph line from Canada to British Columbia would be of far more importance than as a mere link of communication between the two extremities of British America.

A telegraph line from Canada to British Columbia would be of far more importance than as a mere link of communication between the two extremities of British America. It would be a gigantic stride forward in the development of the great chain of telegraphic communication between Europe and America across the plateau of Northern Asia.

Among the telegraph capitalists of the United States, the Atlantic cable scheme has long since been superseded in practical estimation by this project of a line stretching northward across the American continent and through the islands of the North Pacific to connect on the coast of Asia with the system which Russia is extending over the steppes of Siberia.

THE INDIAN CONVICTS AT DAVENPORT, IOWA.
The steamer Favorite returned yesterday morning from Davenport, Iowa, where she was sent last week by the 600 convicts in Indian prisoners.

THE INTERCONTINENTAL TELEGRAPH.

From the Red River No. 101.

Learn that:

Strenuous efforts are about to be made by Canada and British Columbia to secure the running of a road and a telegraphic line between the two colonies.

Each is to send a delegate to England, for the purpose of securing the matter, and Mr. McNeill after consulting with other leading men in Canada, has decided to send Mr. McNeill to St. Paul, Minnesota, to meet Mr. McNeill, and to secure the running of the road and a telegraphic line between the two colonies.

Meetings were held at Red River and Mr. Sandford Fleming nominated to represent the interests of the settlement in England. And a memorial to the Imperial and Canadian Parliaments was adopted upon the subject. The road and telegraphic line contemplated by this movement, as by all movements of a similar character in Canada and Red River, is to start from Lake Superior.

A telegraphic line from Canada to British Columbia would be of far more importance than as a mere link of communication between the two colonies of British America. It would be a gigantic stride forward in the development of the great chain of telegraphic communication between Europe and America across the plateau of Northern Asia, crossing the Pacific through that great natural chain of telegraphic posts, the Aleutian Islands. It is well known that Russia is pushing a line of telegraph from St. Petersburg to the Pacific Coast, and if Great Britain will go to Puget's Sound with the proposed line in which our Red River friends are interested, it would not be long before it would pulsate with greetings between the Old World and the New.

Among the telegraph capitalists of the United States, the Atlantic cable scheme has long since been superseded in practical estimation by this project of a line stretching northward across the American Continent and through the islands of the North Pacific to connect on the coast of Asia with the system which Russia is extending over the steppes of Siberia, and we hope before long to have the pleasure of reading our readers through the medium of special midnight dispatches from our Asiatic and European correspondents, with the latest revolutionary sensation which will disturb the serenity of the Brother of the Moon when he wakes up in the morning at Pekin and the latest case of Harikari at Jeddo. And, with a proper degree of enterprise, we hope to anticipate even the political bulletins of the Monitor and the market announcements of the London Times.

THE INDIAN CONVICT AT DAVENPORT.

The steamer Davenport, returned yesterday morning from Davenport, Iowa, where she was sent last week, with the 200 condemned Indian prisoners. From Lieut. Frank Pratt, of Company C, 7th Regiment, (Capt. Bart.) which company composed the guard sent with the Indians, we gather some particulars concerning the new prison of the Sioux murderers.

The company numbered 85 men, and performed the usual guard duty over the captive Indians, who were loaded on the boiler deck. The Davenport arrived at Davenport on Saturday, having made only one or two stoppages on the way, and those at places remote from large cities, in order to "wood." The Indians were at once taken to the grounds prepared for them. This is an old camp which has been recently vacated by an Iowa regiment. The camp is a square of ground, enclosed with a board fence twelve or fifteen feet high. It is situated near the river, and in a fine, healthy position, overlooking most of the city of Davenport and Rock Island. There are excellent barracks on the grounds for the shelter of the Indians, being the same used by the Iowa troops, and are certainly good enough for the Indians. The tender-hearted admirers of the pagans need not fear, therefore, under the supposition that they are to be ill-treated. The arrangements for feeding them, &c., are well got up. Thus the captives can enjoy life measurably well, lacking only liberty, as they are still in chains, but can live in the sun and dream the summer days away—a very comfortable custom for the savages. They are well guarded, nevertheless, by 250 troops, and there is no danger of any of them escaping. The guards patrol the enclosure by means of a raised foot-walk around the outside of the fence, much as a penitentiary wall is patrolled. The grounds are in care of Capt. Little, of the Iowa 2d, who was relieved from active duty on account of having lost an arm in battle.

HON. WILLIAM WINSTON arrived at his home in Winona, from Washington, last week.

The Board of Auditors, whose term of office expired on the 14th inst., allowed claims to the amount of $7,628.13.

The health of Garibaldi is thus reported in a letter from Caprera, dated April 3:

I am happy to inform you that during the last fortnight a very decided improvement has taken place in the General's health. The rheumatism has disappeared completely, and his wound is closing regularly. In fact, I consider that the cure is approaching its termination.

Gossip from Fort Ripley.

For the Press, April 29, 1863.

Merchants it will do you and your readers good to turn your minds for a moment, from the all absorbing interests in our struggling armies at the South, to this quiet, out of the way locality, where all is peace, and nothing speaks of war except the tri-weekly arrival of the mail, at which times the troops are quickly formed into many groups of which a "Press" forms the centre. During the two intervening days between the arrivals of the mail, our imaginations conceive of great successes gained by our armies, but the latest paper dispels the illusion and generally sets us on nothing else.

The troops here are companies A, C, and E, of the 28th regiment. Company I is at the Agency, fourteen miles above.

The first three are mostly composed of men from Anoka, Washington, and Wright counties, where the Press is a frequent visitor to a large part of the people.

Our life here is very easy. We hardly exercise enough in drilling to make us remember the little military science we ever knew. Now and then we have a skirmish drill and take a run across the prairie, and through the brush, over the hills, frightening the gophers, birds and snakes exceedingly, no doubt, by our sudden raid into their dominions.

The Indians don't trouble us at all, and there is not the least alarm felt in regard to them. Once in a while a group of them comes around and watches us at our games of ball, or quills, looking on with great interest, and laughing heartily at anything amusing.

A detail from several companies is now exercising with the artillery, and the fortifications are being increased which is an excellent plan, for the better they are the less men will they require to garrison them.

We think this is a very healthy and pleasant place, but the soil is quite thin and sandy. The statement that the Cheyenne hold some of the richest land in the State, is simply a joke! Though it is undoubtedly true that they should be removed farther from the settlements of the northern frontier.

The river is very low for the season and it is thought that the logs above cannot be got down till there is a rise.

We are very anxious to see the downfall of the accursed rebellion. Doubtless our impatience is unreasonable for we cannot fully appreciate the obstacles our noble army have to encounter. God grant us success!

Yours truly, W.

River and Steamboat News.

The extreme spell of dry weather we are undergoing is doing us much material injury. It is falling at quite a good rate, and we hear the same news from the Minnesota. The larger boats on the river will have to suspend their trips in a few days unless we have heavy rains to raise the water.

The Davenport arrived from Davenport yesterday morning, having on board Company C, Seventh Regiment, which was the guard for the Indian prisoners sent down on the Davenport. She has several boats taking on supplies, and left Davenport for Fort Snelling, to take on board two companies of the Sixth, and transport them to the Red River and back.

The Hawk Eye State arrived about noon from St. Louis with a large load of merchandise, and 200 mules and 50 wagons for our army.

The Hawk Eye State left for St. Louis in the afternoon.

BOATS LEAVING TO-DAY.

The Hawk Eye State left for St. Louis this morning. She is commanded by Capt. E. H. Hatcher, and has on board, Capt. T. H. Hatcher, and John H. Cooper, another veteran, is her deck. The Hawk Eye State left for St. Louis in the afternoon.

THE PRINCE OF GEORGIA and Danforth Packet down this evening for the City, in elegant boat, in command of Mr. W. H. Hatcher, is a clerk, an obliging and able officer.

GRANING FROM OUR EXCHANGES.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS.

The eldest son of Longfellow, the poet, only 18 years of age, determined on entering the military service of the country, and, to learn the soldier's life from the beginning, enlisted as a private in Capt. McCartney's Battery of Massachusetts Artillery, stationed at the seat of war, and for several weeks discharged, in a manner that gave entire satisfaction to his Captain, the hardest and most disagreeable duties of a private of horse artillery. Neither he nor his father made any effort to get him a commission, though probably no youth in America has stronger influences arising from parental distinction, wealth, social connections, and family friendships, than he. A commission to him as Second Lieutenant in the 1st Massachusetts Cavalry, on the recommendation of the field officers of that regiment, who knew his qualifications as a horseman, and his knowledge of drill and tactics acquired by nearly two years' and persevering practice in the drill clubs of Boston.

We published a paragraph on Sunday morning, stating that retail liquor sellers were required to take out a hotel as well as retail license. Eastern papers correct the mistake. The paragraph should read:

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue has decided that hotel-keepers who sell liquor must take out a liquor-seller's license in addition to a hotel-keeper's license.

The rebels, during the recent campaign near Charleston, fired three thousand five hundred shots, and killed but one of our men. The same loss followed them during the recent passage of the Vicksburg batteries by a fleet of gunboats and transports. They fired five hundred cannon shots, and killed but one man.

The Detroit Advertiser and Tribune reports the returns of the late election in Michigan to be coming in better and better, and that the majority against the peace Democracy will be near 12,000 than 10,000. This shows a most healthy gain over the result last fall.

Two full regiments of loyal men have been raised in Arkansas, and a third is now forming.

Seventy-nine individuals, firms and corporations, in Boston, are taxed for $30,000 and upwards this year, and 337 for less than $30,000 and more than $100,000. Those above a million are J. M. Beche & Co., $1,111,000; Augustus Hemenway, $1,000,000; David Sears, $1,065,000; John E. Taylor & Bro., $264,000; and Fitch associates.

Harvard College is taxed in Boston for $205,000, and the Old South Church for $207,000.

The Secretary of the Interior has decided that those who have heretofore acquired lands, conferring in certain cases pre-emption rights, are not thereby excluded from the privileges of the homestead bill.

A tall chimney—over one hundred feet in height, and ten feet square at the base—attached to the furnace of Nathan Washburn, Worcester, Mass., was moved a few days since a distance of one hundred and fifty feet. Not a brick was dislocated, and the chimney is now as perfect in every respect as when it was started.

In Cincinnati, the other day, a young man named Goble, who had circulated reports detrimental to a young lady, was set upon by the offended dame with a pit bull over his head, scalding water, which she threw off her person, burning him severely. Not content with this punishment, she grappled him by the throat and made him retract all he had said, and then finished up the chastisement by breaking the pitcher over his head and face, so that his countenance presented a pitiable aspect when she had finished. Goble begged piteously, and releasing himself from her hold, rushed into the street, the crowd, which had collected, hallooing after him: "Served right—be more careful of your tongue in the future."

Gov. Seymour, of New York, has signed the bill giving bounties to volunteers who re-enlist, and to those who now enlist as volunteers. It provides that all who re-enlist for two years or during the war shall receive a bounty of $150; those for one year, $50; and all new volunteers for three years or during the war, $75 each. The sum of $3,000,000 or so much thereof as may be necessary, is appropriated, and a tax of two mills levied to meet the same.

The Nashville Union of the 14th inst. says: "Forty-two Union families of East Tennessee were sent beyond the rebel lines by Gen. Bragg a few days ago. Every species of outrage and insult was offered by the rebel ruffians to these loyal martyrs, whose wrongs will certainly be most terribly avenged by the strong arm of a powerful people."

It is said that mechanics and laboring men from Canada are coming across the lines in considerable numbers, seeking employment. The times are very hard for these classes in Canada now, where all the evils of the war are realized without the attending benefits. Besides, the cowards who have hurried into Canada to escape a draft are crowding out the home laborers by working at starvation rates, thus literally "taking the bread out of the mouths" of the native working classes.

STATE NEWS.

From the Mankato Record.

ARREST OF A WINNEBAGO STRUGGLER.—On Saturday afternoon, Mr. Stevens arrested a Winnebago Indian and squaw at Lake near Mr. Mill's, in Garden City township. Col. Miller having no authority to detain them, they were released and permitted to return to their home near the Blue Earth Rapids. Bore appeared much frightened, and we guess will be more cautious hereafter in venturing on their reservation.

A MAN DROWNED.—A Norwegian from Canada, on his way to visit his son in the cavalry company stationed at Kasota, was drowned by falling from the Jeanette Roberts when near Le Sueur, on Friday evening last. The man purchased a pint of whiskey at Henderson a few hours previous, had drunk most of it, and was intoxicated at the time of his death.

A man went aboard the Jeanette Roberts, at Le Sueur, on Friday evening, and picking up the bottle belonging to the Norwegian, drunken at the seat of war, and for several weeks discharged, in a manner that gave entire satisfaction to his Captain, the hardest and most disagreeable duties of a private of horse artillery. Neither he nor his father made any effort to get him a commission, though probably no youth in America has stronger influences arising from parental distinction, wealth, social connections, and family friendships, than he. A commission to him as Second Lieutenant in the 1st Massachusetts Cavalry, on the recommendation of the field officers of that regiment, who knew his qualifications as a horseman, and his knowledge of drill and tactics acquired by nearly two years' and persevering practice in the drill clubs of Boston.

ACCIDENTAL SHOOTING.—On Saturday last, a private in Company E, stationed at Winstock, shot himself accidentally through the right breast. The wound will probably prove fatal.

Another case of accidental shooting occurred at West Mankato on the same day. A pistol in the hands of Lieut. Winslow was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the flesh of a private in Company C, inflicting a deep wound.

HORSES STOLEN.—On Saturday night last, two persons stole a span of fine horses from the stable of Mr. Vingleman, living on the Cottonwood river, near New Ulm Ferry. The thieves were supposed to be Indians, as they were careless, and were tracked for several miles in a southerly direction.

GRAND DUTY.—Since the Indian prisoners have left, the guard at headquarters has been reduced to eighteen men daily. During the winter the number ranged from forty to seventy.

RETURNED.—Company K, of the Seventh, has returned from Mankato, and taken up quarters again at South Bend.

REMOVAL OF THE WINNEBAGOS.—At last it is finally settled that the Winnebago Indians are to be removed from their reservation in this State, at an early day—some reports placing their time of departure as early as the first of May. On Wednesday last, several employees were discharged, and the others are notified to hold themselves in readiness to leave with the Indians at a day's notice. The traders and others connected with the Indians are removing their families from the Agency, with the view of accompanying the Indians.

Superintendent Thompson, it is said, is in St. Louis, providing transportation for the whole tribe.

The place of embarkation will probably be Mankato, and the occasion will be one of universal rejoicing.

NICOLLET COUNTY.

LAND OFFICE REMOVAL.—We are informed by gentlemen who have good reason for the belief, that the land office of Nicollet County will also be attached to the St. Peter office. This will give our officers the business of three districts.

NO ROOM.—A large amount of wheat is remaining here owing to the inability of the boats to carry it below. Our friends at Mankato have so far furnished the loads of grain here as a day's notice.

More Surgery.—Our friend, Mr. Billingsley, of Traverse, will start to Ohio about the first of June, for the purpose of buying another lot of sheep. Having acquired considerable experience in this branch of trade, he can make satisfactory selections and purchase for all who may wish to invest in that kind of stock.

CONVERTED.—We are informed that most of the Mankato lawyers at Mankato have been hopelessly converted through the instrumentality of Bishop Whipple, Dr. Williamson, Mr. Riggs, and others of their friends. They have learned to sing psalms, and deliver the most eloquent prayers ever addressed to a white congregation. They are considered ripe for heaven, and it is a great pity they are not sent there before they have an opportunity to rot or backslide.

Good Judges, however, believe the bloody Christians will lose sight of grace when they quit their prison.

WINONA COUNTY.

ACCIDENT.—Mr. G. W. Knox, a resident of this city, who recently connected with a school for the instruction of Indians at the Winnebago Agency, met with an accident yesterday, by the firing of a pistol, which he was exhibiting to a young lady. The bullet entered his right hand near the palm, inflicting a severe flesh wound.—Winona Rep.

SCARCITY OF PAPER.

The Augusta Constitutionalist, of Saturday, April 14th, appears on a half sheet. The editor says:

"The destruction of the Bath Paper-mills, from which we derived our supplies of printing-paper may entail on us the necessity of suspending the issue of the Constitutionalist. At this time it seems impossible to obtain paper from any other source. All the paper-mills of the Confederacy are now working at their fullest capacity by press engagements. Under these circumstances, we prefer not to receive any more subscriptions. We request all persons contemplating remittances, by mail or express, to withhold them—at least, until we can announce definitely whether we will be able to continue the issue of this paper. Should we be compelled to suspend, we will resume our publication as soon thereafter as practicable. It is wholly impossible, however, to make any calculation as to when that can be.

"These remarks apply equally to the publication of the Southern Field and Freeland."

THE REBEL PRISONER AT MANKATO.

How She Captured the Ship Star of Peace.

Francis M. Hinkley, master of the ship Star of Peace, and the 1st and 2nd mates of that vessel, publish in the London papers of the 9th a full account of the destruction of the ship by the pirate Florida. The Star of Peace was on her way from Calcutta to Boston, on the 6th of March, when she was overhauled by the Florida in lat. 19° north and long. 51° west. The pirate ran alongside with the American colors flying, but before sending a boat on board replaced them by the rebel flag. Capt. Hinkley was ordered to go on board the Florida, where his first interview with two doctors, named Garrison and Graham. One of these men said "they had lately taken the Jacob Bell, and she had been sent to the United States, and the passengers that gave them some trouble, and he was afraid we had some."

Presently Captain Maffit came down and told us that he had been taken by the Florida, and that he had been sent to the United States, and the passengers that gave them some trouble, and he was afraid we had some."

The apprehensions of immediate trouble with Great Britain I suppose to be unfounded. There is no question as to the warlike tone of the great commercial centers on the seaboard; nor is there any question as to the hearty earnestness with which that one is echoed by the three such leaders as Stanton, Chase and Welles.

But the Mephistopheles of the Administration, whose doing in and out of the stocks above Mankato, shot himself accidentally through the right breast. The wound will probably prove fatal.

Another case of accidental shooting occurred at West Mankato on the same day. A pistol in the hands of Lieut. Winslow was accidentally discharged, the ball entering the flesh of a private in Company C, inflicting a deep wound.

HORSES STOLEN.—On Saturday night last, two persons stole a span of fine horses from the stable of Mr. Vingleman, living on the Cottonwood river, near New Ulm Ferry. The thieves were supposed to be Indians, as they were careless, and were tracked for several miles in a southerly direction.

GRAND DUTY.—Since the Indian prisoners have left, the guard at headquarters has been reduced to eighteen men daily. During the winter the number ranged from forty to seventy.

RETURNED.—Company K, of the Seventh, has returned from Mankato, and taken up quarters again at South Bend.
